The Class of 1988 will be the last class to go through Bourne High School as it now exists. Late in 1988 construction will begin on an addition to our school. Upon completion of the new structure and renovations to the present building, BHS will have nearly doubled in size, and many facilities will be available which we have sorely needed for many years.

The most spectacular new areas in BHS may be seen in the first floor plan at the top of the previous page: in the center of the building, an Instructional Media Center and Library, surrounded by offices, conference rooms and a faculty work area, as well as an open courtyard; above the IMC complex, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 850, fully equipped for professional quality musical and stage productions; to the left of and connected to the auditorium, a large area for music instruction, complete with small practice rooms; completing this new wing, large areas for all types of industrial arts. The Industrial Arts and Music suites are adjacent to the auditorium to facilitate design and construction of sets and transportation of sets and musical equipment.

Substantial space will be added to the gymnasium area, including team rooms, a training room, a corrective exercise room, and storage. Between B-wing and C-wing, installation of an elevator will enhance accessibility to our facilities for handicapped persons. There will also be an elevator from the cafeteria area down to the Art Rooms.

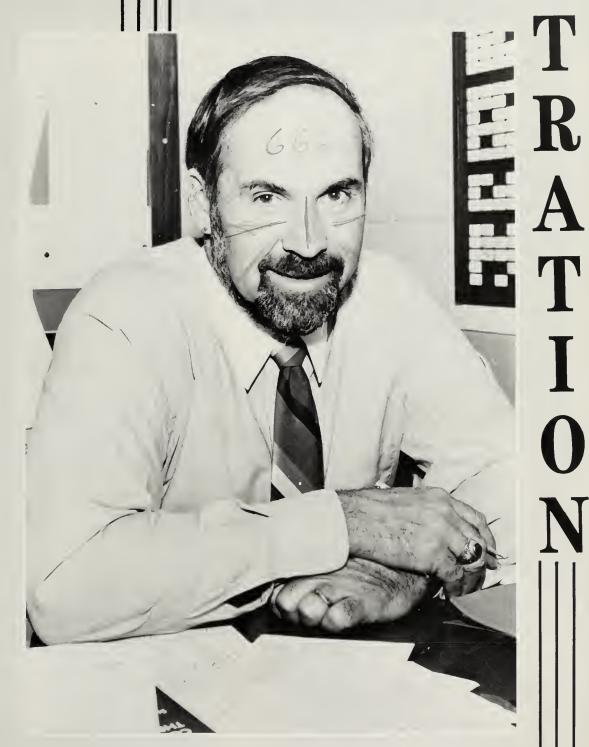

Comprehensive renovations of the existing structure will alter many phases of life here at BHS. For the first time, each Department in the school will be centralized. The cafeteria's size will be enhanced by the removal of the stage area; a faculty dining area will be added. On the "ground floor", under the cafeteria, an Art suite and a Weight Training room will be constructed. A new Computer room will be added to the Math wing. Child Care instruction space will appear next to the Home Economics suite. Many new classrooms and much needed storage space will appear and many repairs will be made.

The students, faculty, administration, and staff of BHS eagerly anticipate our new look. We wish to thank the citizens of our town for demonstrating their concern for education. Bourne's future is within the walls of BHS.

In Memoriam James McQuade

Bourne Educator 1967-1987

> Father Teacher Friend

Mr. James McQuade, a very successful businessman, made an important decision in September, 1967. He decided to change careers and became a teacher.

Entering his chosen profession as a grade four teacher at the Stone School, he eventually moved up to grade six.

This quiet and self-assured man quickly established himself as a "classic" gentleman whose family orientation and traditional values permeated his role as teacher and colleague. A subtle, dry wit and warm smile further characterized this "gentle" man. He would often speak with great pride of his three grandchildren, and his tales of fishing and flytying still echo in the teachers' room.

Many a student will recall with fond memories the special oriental dinner which evolved from Mr. McQuade's social studies classes each year. We can still picture him in his ornate kimono walking among his students and chatting with them. Many others still will remember his greeting and recognition individually as he stood by the door each morning, with a, "Hello, Beautiful! Hi, Handsome!"

We, his colleagues, will never forget his penchant for organization and his systematic approach to everything. Most of all we'll remember how he always made us feel welcome, and accepted.

"Jim, your light still shines within the hearts of all you've touched."

BHS DOES NOT HAVE

Sit and relax, then reminisce, to four years ago today. Close your eyes and picture this, as we travel back that way.

Our freshman year was something new, we learned to find our way. Everyone there seemed so immense, though we made it through each day.

Our sophomore year, remember that? we finally got our rings. Fund raisers, dances, the spirit shirts, and all those lovely things.

Then there was our junior year, we're more than half way through. The "faithful" prom, and drivers ed, there's so much here to do.

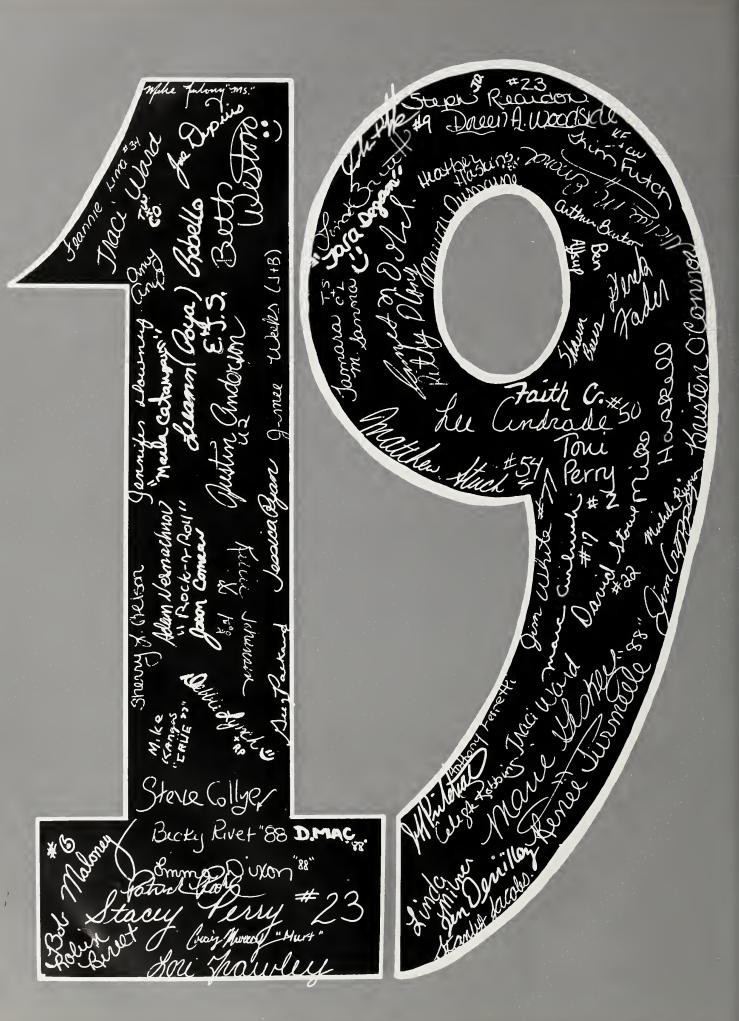

The time has come, it's our turn now, to grow and learn to live.

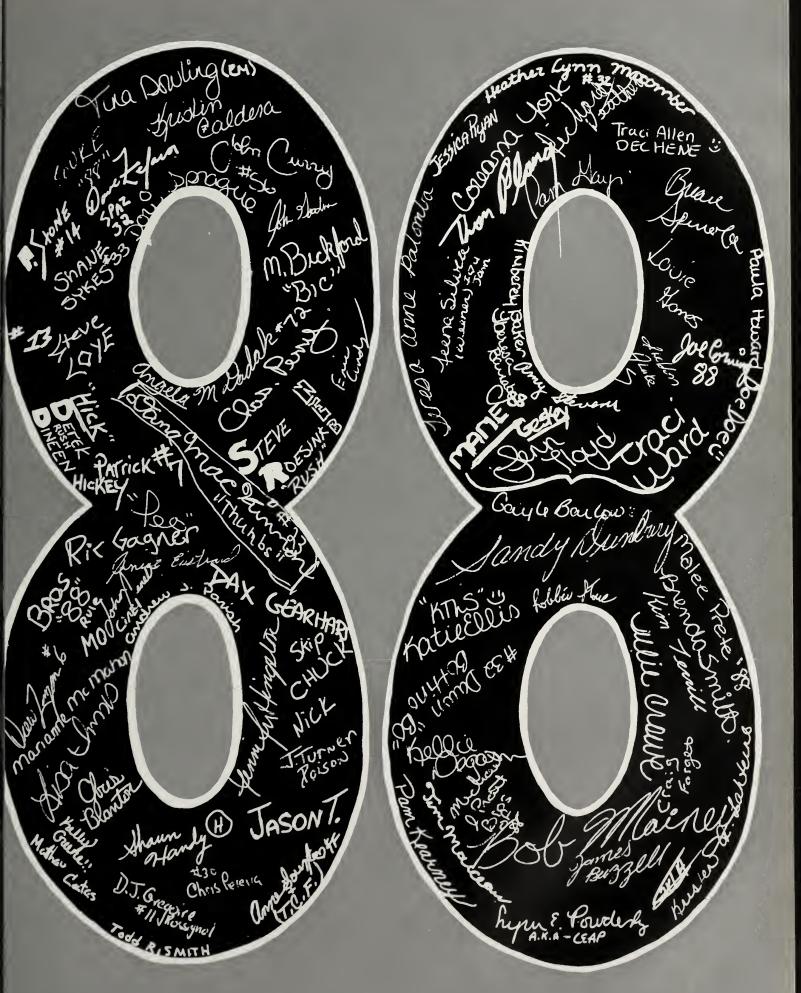

To show ourselves just who we are, there's so much we can give.

We've worked so hard and strived to achieve, those goals that were set so high. It's our chance now to tackle the world, get out there and give it a try.

On our last day of school, should we take one look back? or just smile and then walk away? It's over now, a thing of the past, as we welcome graduation day!!!

SEMI-FORMAL

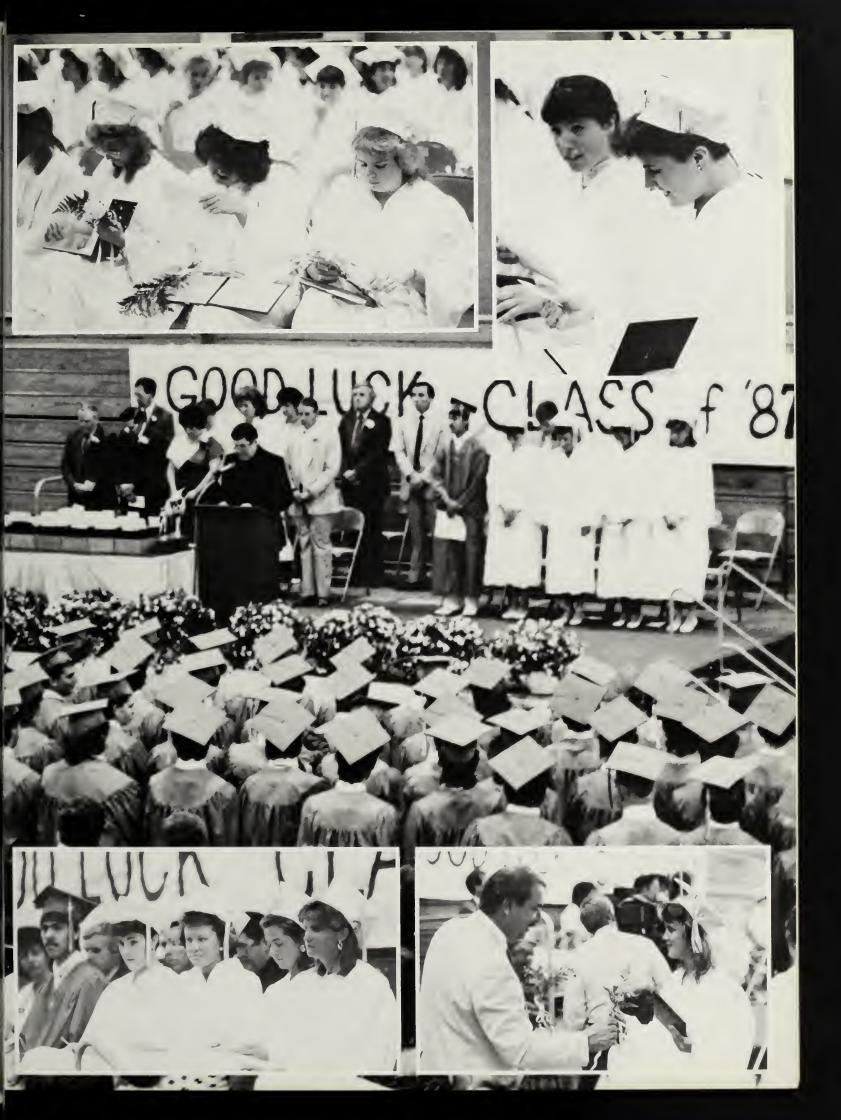

GRADUATION 1987

1987 JUNIOR PROM

On June 12, 1987, BHS resumed its tradition of all-night proms, held in the school itself. Elegantly gowned and tuxedoed students danced to the accompaniment of DJ Steve Binder and dined on a catered sumptuous buffet. Dinner was followed by more dancing, the crowning of the Queen and her Court, and a midnight change into less formal attire. In the wee hours of the morning, movies were shown in the cafeteria, while many naps were taken on gym mats. At 4:30 a.m. faculty chefs, demonstrating previously hidden culinary artistry, served the weary revelers a hearty breakfast. When the clean-up crew began dismantling the decorations at 6:00 a.m., mass exodus ensued, bringing a delightful evening to an end. The Prom Court: D. Lynch, R. Pratt, S. Reardon, R. Maloney, M. McMahon, J. Hopwood, L. Andrade, J. Crowe, Queen Lori Frawley, Drew MacDonald, S. Perry, S. Cryan, B. Allsup, D. Woodside, S. Gelson, T. Marceau.

I, Benjamin David Allsup, Editor of the 1988 Canal Currents would like to thank everyone who helped make this yearbook a success. Special thanks go to Alice M. Casanova; without her skill, patience, and determination, this book would have never been finished. Finally, I would like to wish everyone who is within this book all the good fortune and happiness after Bourne High that I, and many others, have gotten from it.

Producing a book of this size requires thousands of hours of work. Without a large staff, most of those hours of work end up being performed by a very few people. This year, Canal Currents had a larger-than-usual group of consistently helpful people. Thank you: Noi, Matt, Sherry, Kim, Tina, Dewey, Jen, Amy, and Kim. Very special thanks to to Lynn Powderly, who designed and drew our cover and our endsheets. Thanks, too, to Norval Garnett, our Josten's representative.

Most of all, however, six people have earned my undying love, respect, and gratitude. Benjamin Allsup, Editor-in-Chief and photographer extraordinaire, and Kristen Lahteine, Associate Editor, have worked their little toes off and have kept me sane and laughing through a hundred loooooooong afternoons and evenings. And, Mr. and Mrs. Allsup and Mr. and Mrs. Lahteine, thank you for allowing me to monopolize your children's lives for six months.
